Changes in NZ Diploma in Business structure

The new academic year has brought good news to the students of St George Institute of Learning. The structure of the NZDB programme has been changed to ensure the flexibility and convenience of studying process. Instead of the normal 3 semesters a year now students can enrol in 5 intakes: in February, May, July, September and November. These intakes are called blocks; each block includes 2 months of intensive study. The students can study up to two papers in each block.

New structure of the programme allows students to finish their qualification consisting of 12 papers in 1-1.5 years! This is twice as fast as a 3-year bachelor degree in the university!

IELTS Afternoon Class

One more opportunity to improve your English skills for IELTS! Our new class provides intensive study using the best IELTS books available to date. The main feature of the new afternoon class is the new teacher with extensive teaching experience at the University of Auckland .

Moreover, the teacher for the IELTS Afternoon Class has practical experience of IELTS exams. So who could be a better person to give students the useful tips on passing IELTS? Teaching times: Tue, Wed, Thu (5.00 - 7.00 pm)

Card games for learning English

For the last couple of months students at St George have been enjoying a new type of activity – a card game called “500”. The rules of the game were unfamiliar to the majority of people who participated in these events. However, our students are quick learners, and they proved this fact once again, this time out of the classroom! The main point of this activity was to communicate in English. Students from all the classes had fun making new friends while participating in the games for the chocolate prizes!
